

How to import EA file into MT4

Step 1

In the Navigator, click "+" next to "Expert Advisors". Double-click the Expert Advisor (EA) you want to run, or right-click and select "Attach to a chart".

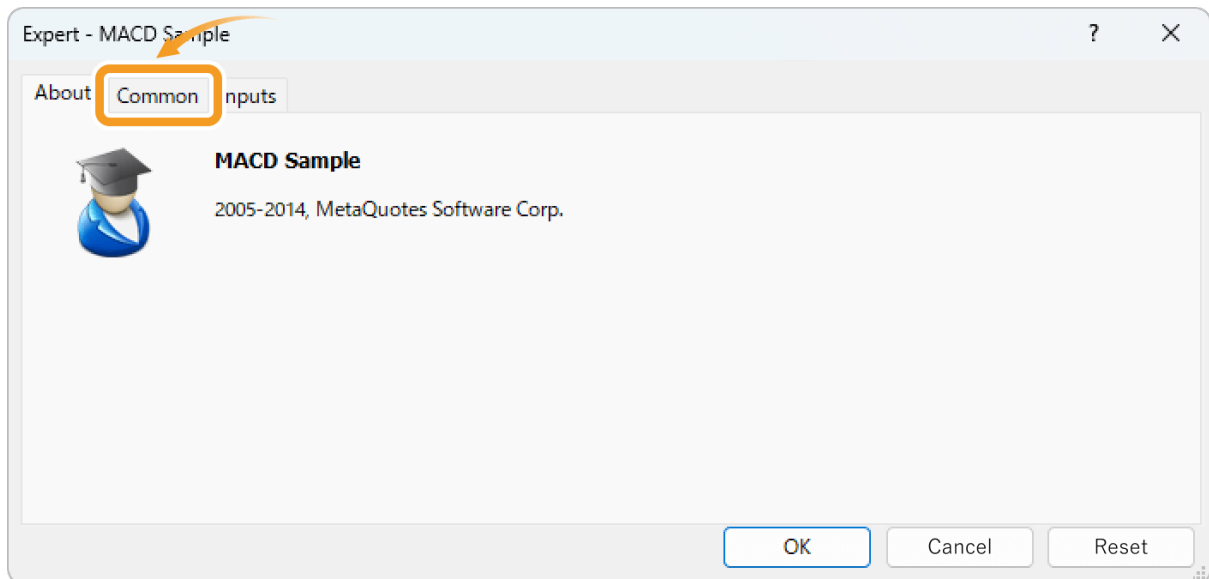

Or, choose the Expert Advisor (EA) you want to run and drag it to a chart.

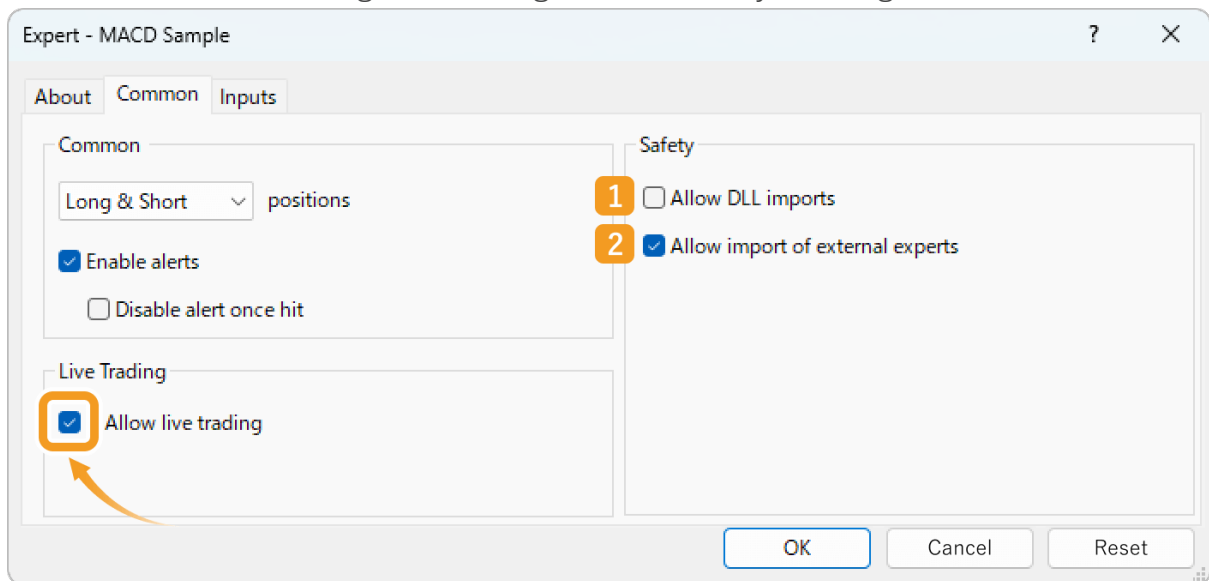

Step 2

The window for the Expert Advisor (EA) will open. Click the "Common" tab.

Step 3

Check "Allow live trading" and configure the "Safety" settings.

Number	Item name	Descriptions
1	Allow DLL imports	Check this box if you want to allow the use of DLLs.
2	Allow import of external experts	Check this box if you want to allow the use of external experts. It's checked by default.

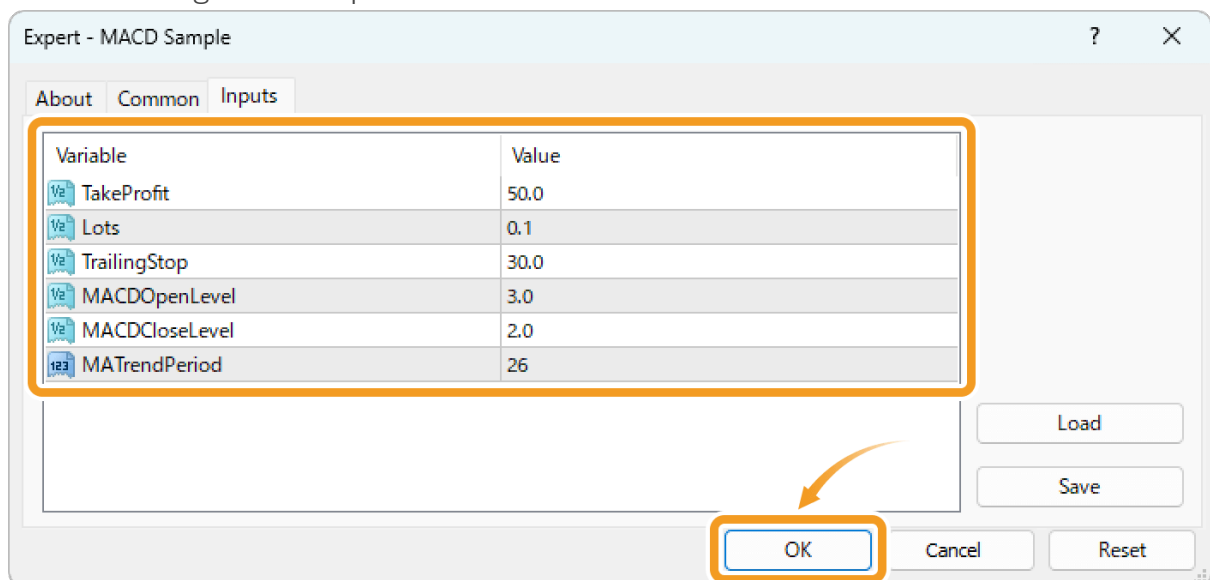

Allow DLL imports when using Expert Advisor (EA) with web authentication

"If using an Expert Advisor (EA) with web authentication, sometimes you need to check the ""Allow DLL imports"" checkbox. Expert Advisor (EA) with web authentication limits the Expert Advisor (EA) usage to a specified account number.

Also, some Expert Advisor (EA) require an external DLL to enable all features. Since the use of DLL comes with risks, ensure that access is granted only to trusted websites."

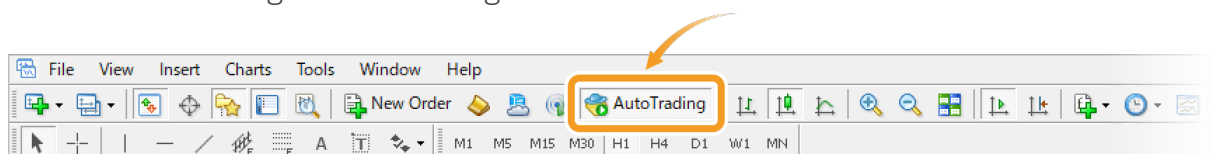

Step 4

Click the "Inputs" tab to configure the EA settings, if needed. Once you're done--or if no changes are required--click "OK".

Step 5

Click the "AutoTrading" button in the toolbar. Once the Expert Advisor is enabled, the icon will change from red to green.

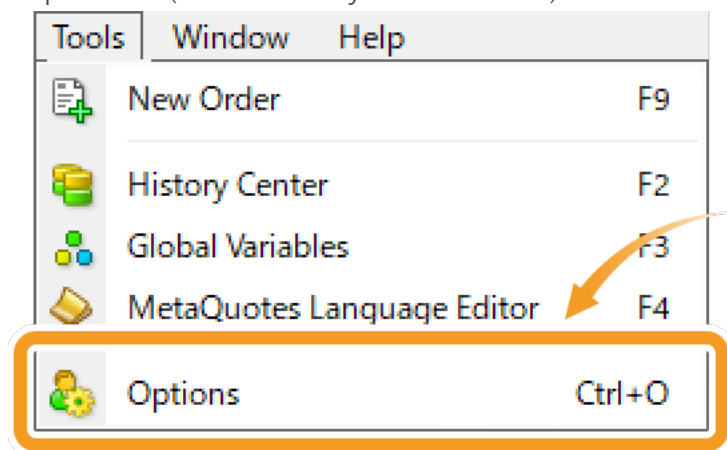

Step 6

Make sure that the Expert Advisor (EA) icon in the top-right corner of the chart has a smiley face.

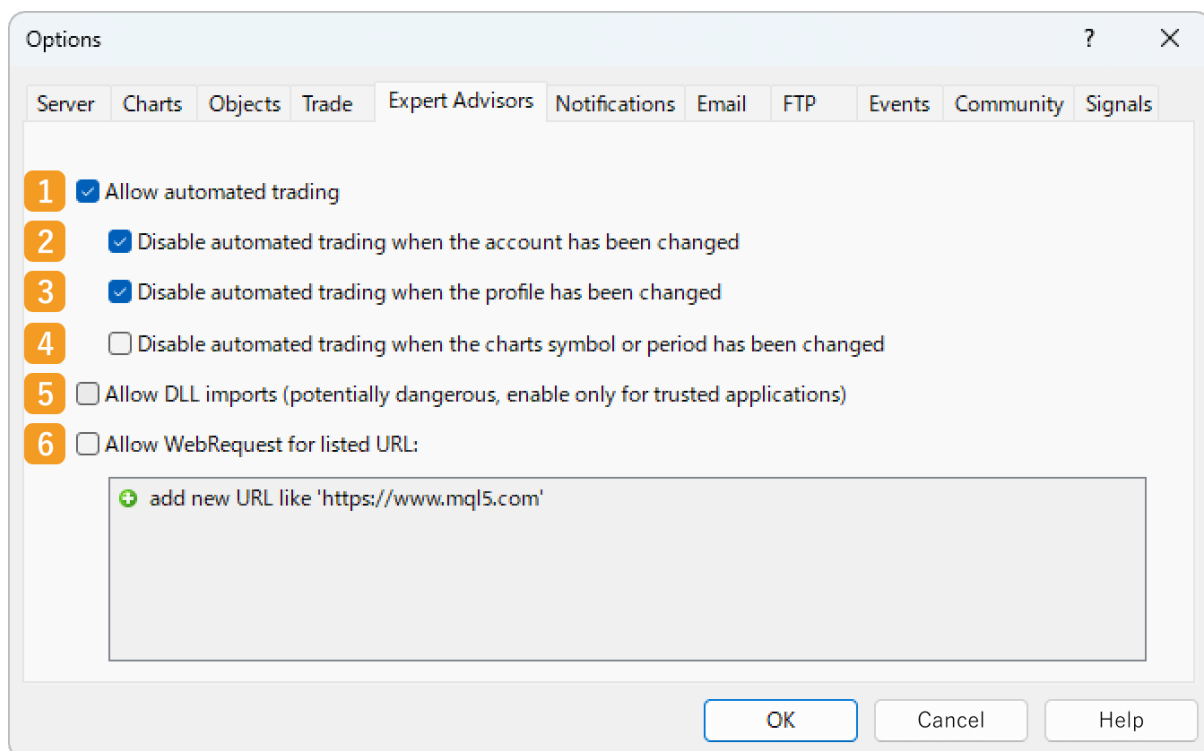

Step 7

To configure the Expert Advisor (EA), click "Tools" in the menu and select "Options". (Shortcut keys: "Ctrl"+"O")

Step 8

In the "Expert Advisors" tab, edit the settings and click "OK".

Number	Item name	Descriptions
1	Allow automated trading	Allow the use of Expert Advisors (EA) when checked.
2	Disable automated trading when the account has been changed	Switching the logged-in account will disable trading by the running Expert Advisor (EA) when checked.
3	Disable automated trading when the profile has been changed	Changing the chart profile will disable trading by the running Expert Advisor (EA) when checked.
4	Disable automated trading when the chart symbol or period has been changed	Changing the symbol or timeframe of a chart will disable trading by the running Expert Advisor (EA) when checked.
5	Allow DLL imports	When checked, "Allow DLL imports" is checked by default in the Expert Advisors settings.
6	Allow WebRequest for listed URL	To allow access to external websites, check this checkbox and enter the URL of the website to which you wish to allow access. Ensure that access is granted only to trusted websites to minimize risks.
